

DYING BROTHER'S LIFE WON BACK BY GIRL'S BLOOD

Emily Lang, Tender and Pretty,
Makes Heroic Sacrifice for Stricken Fred.

HIS RECOVERY IS SURE.

Anaemic Body of Stricken Boy
Absorbs Pint of Sister's
Blood in Five Hours.

Thirteen-year-old Emily Lang returned triumphantly to her home at No. 3116 Glover street, the Bronx, today after having sacrificed more than a pint of her blood to save the life of her brother Frederick Jr., sixteen years old, who has been a patient in the Fordham Hospital for two months.

Emily is an unusually pretty girl, with dark hair and light brown eyes, and the roses were still in her cheeks when she came back from the hospital today and told a host of her friends of her experience.

The family is very poor and lives in a tiny cottage. The father, a mechanic, has had more than his share of misfortune in the past year. Six months ago he lost his wife and one daughter from typhoid. With all this burden on his shoulders the plant he was employed in shut down. Three months ago his only boy, and for the time being the only bread earner of the family, fell and broke several small bones in the right leg. The breaks were not serious, until osteomyelitis, or bone disease, set in. The broken bones began to decay and blood poisoning followed. The boy was taken to the Fordham Hospital and several operations were performed.

On Saturday night the father came home bowed down with grief. He told his daughter that unless he could find somebody who would sacrifice his blood for Fred the boy was doomed. He could think of no one who would volunteer, and was too poor to pay any one for the sacrifice.

To his surprise Emily insisted on offering herself to the surgeons, saying she would gladly give half her blood to save her brother. The father did not think this possible, as the girl was slender and delicate looking and had worked hard at odd jobs since her mother's death.

As Emily said she had decided to give her blood, the father did not think it possible, as the girl was slender and delicate looking and had worked hard at odd jobs since her mother's death.

On Sunday the transfusion was accomplished, the brother and sister lying on adjoining cots and a tube being connected from an incision in the girl's arm to the arm of Fred. More than a pint of the girl's blood was absorbed by the anaemic body of her brother in the course of five hours, the girl going through the ordeal with great bravery, laughing and joking the greater part of the time.

Of course she was very weak after the operation, and the doctors kept her in the hospital Tuesday and yesterday, feeding her nourishing food and tonics. But the best tonic of all was the announcement they made last night that her sacrifice had undoubtedly saved her brother's life.

"And I would have given one of my arms," she said today, "to save Fred. What I did do was really nothing. It was worth all the blood I've got in my body just to see the change that has come over poor papa."

And she had to repeat this again and again to the curious throngs of neighbors that kept flocking to the cottage all day long.

ROAMED BURNING HOUSE PRAYING AMIDST BLAZE.

Wealthy William Ewbanks Lets
Policeman Extinguish Flames
Without Assisting.

The magnificent home of William Ewbanks at No. 35 Washington street, Washington, was found ablaze early today, while its owner, reputed to be the wealthiest man in Flushing, walked about the house apparently unconcerned and praying fervently.

Policeman James Shortell noticed a tongue of fire at a window ledge on the second floor. He ran up the steps and extinguished the blaze by smothering it with rugs. It had started in lace curtains. While Shortell was extinguishing the fire Ewbanks watched him admiringly, reciting extracts from the Bible. He thanked the policeman, who left him in the care of his sister, the only other tenant of the house.

Ewbanks last Tuesday morning was found praying and sitting on the step of a farm wagon owned by James D. Henrich. Six years ago he insisted upon presenting to a Flushing church, on his Main street property, the church held in trust for him. Ewbanks has often stopped strangers on the street and given hundred dollar bills to them.

BATTERMAN LEFT $2,000,000.
$50,000 for Charity, Remainder
Shared by Widow and Son.

Final accounting of the will of the late Henry Batterman, said made merchant prince, who died Jan. 10, was made before Surrogate Kotchman in Brooklyn today. The estate totals more than $2,000,000 out of which $50,000 is left to charity.

Of the remainder goes to a son, Henry Lewis Batterman, and the other half is held in trust for the widow, Anna, who will have the income for life. The principal goes to the trustees at her death. No mention was made of Mrs. Adelaide Batterman, a married daughter.

13-YEAR-OLD GIRL WHO GAVE BLOOD TO SICK BROTHER.

ARTISTIC TABLE D'HOTE TOO MUCH FOR CHIMNEY.

Chef's Hot Stuff and Manager's
Hotter Language Warm Up
Hotel Gonfalone Some.

The preparation of the noon table d'hote at the Hotel Gonfalone, MacDougal and Eighth streets, today taxed the chimney beyond its strength, and much smoke, sparks and Galle strong language resulted.

A non-Policeman Meall saw a column of black smoke jumping from the roof of the hotel, rushed into the office to tell the manager. The manager was not there; he was on the roof with a half-dozen assistants, pouring buckets of water down the smoking chimney. He was also in a rage.

Battalion Chief Rush came on the first alarm and the thing was over in a few minutes, with minimal damage. But the MacDougal alley artists had to go elsewhere for their table d'hote and vin ordinaire.

Souza Sues for $17,000.
John Philip Souza, son of the bandmaster, yesterday began an action in the Supreme Court to recover $17,000 from Thomas Quinlan, an English producer of plays and musical shows.

Souza claims the money was due his father, as the result of a trip last year to Australia and Africa, and that he was assigned the claim by his father. Quinlan is said to be now in Johannesburg, where he is managing an operatic company.

BOY WHO SHOT GIRL IS FREE.
Operator's Jury Declares Killing of Niece Was Accidental.

Horace Buffard, the fourteen-year-old boy who shot and killed his three-year-old niece, Annie Russo, at No. 375 First avenue, on Sunday morning last, was discharged today by Coroner Hollensted.

A jury declared the shooting was accidental.

The boy, while in the apartments of his sister, was playing with a shotgun. He aimed the weapon at his sister and then at the child. The weapon was discharged and the little girl instantly killed.

RECEIVERS NAMED
FOR A $3,700,000
MINING COMPANY

Director Files Insolvency Suit to Prevent Attachments on Alaska-Ebner Property.

As the result of an insolvency suit in which the defendant corporation joins, Judge Holt in the United States District Court today appointed Frank Sullivan Smith and A. W. Middleton as receivers under $30,000 bond over the assets of the Alaska-Ebner Gold Mines Company, whose office is at No. 60 Broadway. The total liabilities of the insolvent mining company, which possessed mineral property admittedly valuable in California, Nevada and Alaska, are set down in the petition of the complainant, Waldemar T. Hammer of Bradford, Conn., at $3,777,000.

Hammer, who owns 11,000 shares of the capital stock of the Alaska-Ebner company, valued at $5 a share, and who is a director in the corporation, states in his petition in bankruptcy that he is also a creditor of the company on notes now due to the extent of $6,000. He assigns as the reason for his entering the petition in behalf of other directors and stockholders the fact that the danger of attachments upon one or more of the corporation's properties because of notes due and unpaid and salaries of employees yet unsettled threatens to alienate these properties from the corporation.

The Alaska-Ebner concern owns the property of the former California-Nevada Mining Company, covered by mortgage which is held by the Standard Trust Company of New York. It also owns a controlling interest in the Ebner Gold Mining Company's gold mine at Madera, Cal., a controlling interest in the Bristol Consolidated Mines and Smelting Company, with properties at Pioche, Nev., and an interest in gold mines at Juncos, Alaska.

The directors of the company resident in New York are A. W. Middleton, secretary and treasurer; F. L. Underwood, Francis Lynch, H. Briggs, F. S. Woodruff and Peter Wilkes.

According to A. W. Middleton, secretary-treasurer of the company and one of its receivers, the stockholders will lose nothing by the bankruptcy suit. The imminence of a national election and the uncertain attitude of the Government toward corporations were two of the reasons assigned by Mr. Middleton yesterday for the failure of the company to realize on its assets.

UTICA TROOPS OUT TO HALT FIGHTING
STRIKERS AT MILLS

UTICA, N. Y., April 4.—Martial law has been declared at New York Mills and Yorkville, two suburban villages of this city, because of the strike of employees in the several plants of the New York Mills Company. The National Guardsmen, comprising two companies in this city, were ordered out to-day and are now in the villages and will do patrol duty until the strike is settled. All saloons have been ordered closed within the villages.

The Sheriff and forty deputies were on guard at the mills yesterday and last night, and had to contend with riotous mobs. The trouble was intensified because the company attempted to have a number of foremen and others put the mill in shipshape order and to save thousands of dollars' worth of stock in danger of being spoiled unless the mills could be cleaned up. The strikers objected to anybody entering the mills and made threats against the deputies and also to destroy the mills.

Women joined with the men and patrolled the streets, holding up everybody who approached the mills. One of the women threw a cupful of red pepper in the face of a deputy sheriff who attempted to disperse a fighting crowd. She and six men were arrested and brought to the jail in this city. Later the situation became so tense that Sheriff Becker asked for the co-operation of the militia.
